

CHURCHILL TELLS GERMANY IT HAS FORFEITED RIGHT TO LENIENT PEACE TERMS

British Prime Minister Makes Lengthy Report on War
And Its Progress — Says Allied Blows In Mediterranean Are Mere Preludes To Main Attack On Germany

By International News Service
LONDON, Sept. 21—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today bluntly told Germany it has forfeited the right to lenient armistice terms such as granted to conquered Italy.

In a lengthy report on the war and its progress during which he characterized Allied blows in the Mediterranean as mere preludes to the main attack on Germany from the west, Churchill echoed the promise of President Roosevelt that Prussian militarism as well as Nazism must be destroyed.

The Mediterranean battlefield, Churchill said, is a "third front." A second front already exists potentially, he said, adding, "it has not yet been thrown into play. That time is coming."

Attacking Germany for turning Italy into a battleground, Churchill said the Italian people "will be rescued from their state of servitude and degradation and will be enabled, in due course, to regain their rightful place among the free democracies of the modern world."

Churchill then dealt lengthily with Allied mastery of the air and the havoc wrought on Germany. He also said no Allied ships had been sunk by U-boats in any part of the world for the first fortnight in September, but revealed that Nazi submarines again have become active.

Red Cross Meeting Held; More Assistance Sought

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of Bristol Branch of the Red Cross took place yesterday at the Red Cross headquarters, Mill street.

The various chairmen made reports, and the chairman of home nursing, Mrs. Walter Pitonka, stated that owing to the great demand for enrollment in home nursing course, another course will be conducted in the near future.

The chairman, Mrs. Russell DeLong, stated that the greatest need for volunteer workers now is in the surgical dressings. More women are urged to attend the class at the community house, which is held each Tuesday and Wednesday morning and afternoon, and Tuesday evening.

Edgely and Tullytown Bond Workers Report

EDGELEY, Sept. 21—At a meeting held on Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Leslie Kilcoyne, chairman of the Third War Loan Bond Drive in Lower Bucks County, reports were turned in by workers from the Edgely and Tullytown area.

The aides not only gave results to the present time, but reported on promises for the future. The meeting was climaxed by serving of refreshments.

The quota for Edgely is $50,000. "When we think what the boys are going through, I am quite sure we will go well over the $50,000 mark," Mrs. Kilcoyne told the workers. Among those reporting were many of the girls and boys of the Blue Star Brigade.

Sales reported on Sunday included: Mrs. George Garretson, $2,000; Mrs. E. Wolvin, $2,500; Mrs. A. Smyrl, over $2,000; Mrs. Edna Riegras, $5,000.

R. Clay, Tullytown, $1,884.50 in stamps; Harold Book, $144.30 stamps; Miss L. Glammann, $168.75 in stamps; Joyce Welker, $1,421.25 in stamps; William Smyrl, $176.75 in stamps; Julian Bley, $66.75 in stamps; "Ted" Shout, formerly of Edgely, $2,568.95 in stamps; Donald Moyer, $317.35 in stamps; Joseph Tapotto, Bristol, $215 stamps and bonds. These children range from 7 to 13 years.

The youths of the Blue Star Brigade of America are selling stamps to enable the citizens to finish their stamp book in order to secure bonds for the third war loan drive.

BAPTISM

EDDINGTON, Sept. 21—Aileen Frances Hopkins was baptized in Christ Episcopal Church, here, on Sunday, by the rector, the Rev. Arthur F. Gibson. The sponsors were Mrs. Horace Hopkins, Jr., Mrs. William Bennett and Miss Ada Harders.

Peter Zack, Hayes street, was bitten by a dog on Sunday, he being treated at Harriman Hospital.

Picnic of The Defense Council Much Enjoyed

The picnic sponsored by the West Bristol Division of the Defense Council held at the Smith picnic grounds, Newportville, Sunday afternoon, was well attended and most thoroughly enjoyed.

The co-operative spirit which everyone put into it made the picnic a gratifying success.

War Stamp Card Party Is Very Poorly Attended

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Sept. 21—Only 43 individuals turned out to compete for the $20 in war stamps donated as prizes for the bridge and pinocle tournament held at the Bensalem Township high school last evening, promoting the sale of stamps at the door to $21.50, which entitled them to participate in the games. An additional $10.75 was realized through the sale of a hand-embroidered tapestry, made and donated by Mrs. Elmer Vansant expressly for the affair.

"In view of the fact that only 10% of Bensalem Township's quota of $472,500 has been raised, the failure to support the card party came as a distinct shock to the war loan committee," states one of the members. "It is hoped that the committee will rally to attend the war bond sales revue on Saturday at Bensalem Township high school, where many special events have been planned. Along with the excellent entertainment prepared by the student body under direction of the faculty there will be other accomplished local performers."

Fifty-Five Scouters Present at Conference

With fifty-five scouters in attendance at Camp Ockanickon over the week-end, the scouters' training conference was a great success. Men from all over Bucks County assembled on Saturday afternoon and took part in the eight courses that were offered: Basic, troop committee, health and safety, play-way, craftwork, patrol leader's training, camporee and troop camping, and cubbing.

Throughout the week-end, the spirit of summer camp prevailed. Men living by districts in the various camp sites, talked far into the night on their experiences and problems in scouting. Rev. A. B. Davidson, vice president of the council, conducted chapel services on Sunday morning and F. P. Kemmerer, Sellersville, council commodore of sea-scouting gave an inspiring address at the closing session. The courses in charge of S. A. Miller, of Langhorne, training chairman, and scout executive, Raymond W. Hoxworth, were a new departure in the method of combining camping and training on a district basis. At the closing ceremony, certificates were presented to all those who took part.

Mrs. Thomas Meaney, Past Dep't Pres't, Officiates at Langhorne

ACTIVITIES NUMEROUS

LANGHORNE, Sept. 21—Officers of American Legion Auxiliaries from Langhorne and Yardley were installed last evening by Mrs. Thomas Meaney, past president of the Department of Pennsylvania, American Legion Auxiliary, in the Memorial House here. Some officers of the Newtown Auxiliary were also present for the occasion.

Mrs. Frank Cassidy was the presiding officer, and following installation of officers for the year 1943-44, turned the gavel over to Mrs. Harry Friedrich, the new president of the local Auxiliary.

The joint ceremony of installation was witnessed by 40 women, with the following Langhorne members taking the oath of office: President, Mrs. Friedrich; vice-presidents, Mrs. William A. Thomas and Mrs. Lawrence Arment; secretary, Mrs. Gilbert Bonnell; treasurer, Mrs. Robert Leedom; historian, Miss Elma E. Haefner; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. James Tracy; chaplain, Mrs. Roscoe L. Horner. Those named to the executive committee are: Mrs. Joseph Koons, Mrs. Howard Potter and Mrs. Harry Bergbauer.

Mrs. Kelly was installed as president of Yardley unit.

A gift was presented by the retiring president to Mrs. Meaney. The guest of honor spoke briefly, congratulating Mrs. Cassidy on the accomplishments during her term.

Berlin Radio Makes Direct Threat To Vatican

By International News Service

A direct threat to the Vatican was voiced today by the Berlin radio which attacked the "pacifism and anti-German sentiments" of the Holy See.

"Let the policy of the Vatican force us not to have recourse to radical measures," said the warning broadcast by the Berlin transmitter in the name of the Nazi-sponsored "National Republican Fascist Government."

The broadcast, beamed to Italy in the Italian language, was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

Further tightening of the Nazi cordon around the Vatican City was disclosed at the same time in a brief broadcast by the Vatican transmitter.

"Owing to circumstances beyond our control postal communication with our listeners continues to be interrupted," a Vatican announcer said.

"As soon as this service is resumed it will be announced."

The Berlin threat gave the Holy See the choice of deciding for or against Fascism. The broadcast said:

"The Vatican, the prelates, all the hierarchy of the church, from the Pope down to the parish priests, have this choice: either with Fascist and Catholic Italy or against it. It is not a problem of consciences. It is a dilemma that is before the men of the church. It is not a problem of faith."

"If it were true—and it is not—that there exists an incompatibility between the Catholic faith and the Fascist faith, and if we were forced to choose between the Catholic faith and the Fascist faith—we, by the side of our German comrades, would choose the Fascist faith."

Although the puppet Fascist government set up by the Nazis previously has excoriated the government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio and King Victor Emmanuel for agreeing to an armistice with the Allies, the Berlin broadcast marked the first direct attack on the Vatican.

"The Vatican, with its preaching of pacifism and with its anti-German sentiments, has disturbed the Catholic consciences of the Fascist fighters," the Berlin announcer asserted.

"These centers of sabotage and betrayal will be eliminated from the new Fascist and Republican Italy. Let the policy of the Vatican force us not to have recourse to radical measures."

The complaint of the Nazis and Fascists appeared to stem from the last speech by Pope Pius XII, in which he expressed hope that the world would enjoy a just peace.

In reference to this the Berlin announcer said:

"In opposition to the voluntaristic and warring conception of Fascism, the Pope again in his last speech praised the advantages and the virtues derived from peace, and the appeal, also because of the time it was made and the manner in which it was made, invited one to a vile capitulation that was afterward accepted by the monarchy."

To the People of this Community:

ARE YOU SACRIFICING?
To meet our Third War Loan quota, everybody who earns a wage or receives an income or has idle or accumulated funds—everybody who can possibly do so—must invest in at least one EXTRA $100 BOND THIS MONTH. Those who can, should buy more.

Perhaps you might be tempted to say "I'm making plenty of sacrifices already. Let the other fellow do it." If so, stop and think a moment. How would you like to sleep in an open fox-hole every night? How would you like to be caked with mud from head to toe suffering from exhaustion, in momentary danger of losing an arm, a leg, or your life? Those are the sacrifices your own boy or your neighbor's boy is facing, willingly, for you. What sacrifice can we make to compare with this? The little things we give up back home here cannot begin to compare. That's why you must do more! We must JOIN the invasion by giving up luxuries—necessities, even—and throw every dollar we have into the battle.

GRAND JURY FINDS TRUE BILL AGAINST NEGRO

Case Presented To Jury By Judge Hiram H. Keller

MAY PLEAD GUILTY

Number of Court Cases Are Tried Before Traverse
Jury

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 21—Changing his plea of not guilty to guilty, Charles Tracey, 32, of Sunset avenue, Parkland, was placed on probation yesterday by Judge Hiram H. Keller, who suspended sentence in the case and placed the costs on the county.

Tracey was charged with aggravated assault and battery, when he shot a BB rifle on June 27, when it hit 11-year-old Daniel Dwyer, Jr., a neighbor boy, in the face, about an inch from the left eye.

Judge Keller suspended sentence because the defendant had already been in the county prison for 80 days.

After Attorney J. Lawrence Grim, of Morrisville, representing Tracey, had asked the court for a directed verdict, Judge Keller stated that in the court's opinion there was negligence in a case where a grown man points a rifle at a boy.

Daniel Dwyer, Jr., testified that he was outside his home on June 27 and was shooting the BB rifle that belonged to Tracey. He said that Tracey shot at a bucket that he was holding in his hand and the pellet missed the bucket and struck him in the face.

"I don't think that Mr. Tracey wanted to hit me," the boy testified. "This should be a lesson to you," Judge Keller warned Tracey. "You were careless on that occasion and showed very poor judgment in shooting at a bucket held by this little boy. You might have blinded him for life, and that's no fun. The court knows what it means to lose the sight of an eye."

The Grand Jury yesterday indicted Wilson Hall, Negro, of English-town, N. J., charged with the murder of his wife, Marie, 28, on the King's farm property last week.

The Grand Jury was called back to court yesterday and the case was presented to them by Judge Keller for their action. The jury was out but a short time and a true bill was found.

It is possible that Hall may plead guilty at the present time of court, and leave his lot up to the decision of Judges Keller and Boyer. If he does not plead guilty, counsel will be appointed to represent him and the case will not be tried until the December term of court. A number of material witnesses were called before the Grand Jury, including two who saw Hall stab his

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

of them. However, he was — and is — entirely loyal to Mr. Roosevelt and no critical or unsympathetic word concerning the President's policies ever passed his lips. By the dignity, determination and competency with which he conducted his department, stood by his convictions and minded his own business, he won for himself a place in the esteem of the country not occupied by any other member of the Administration.

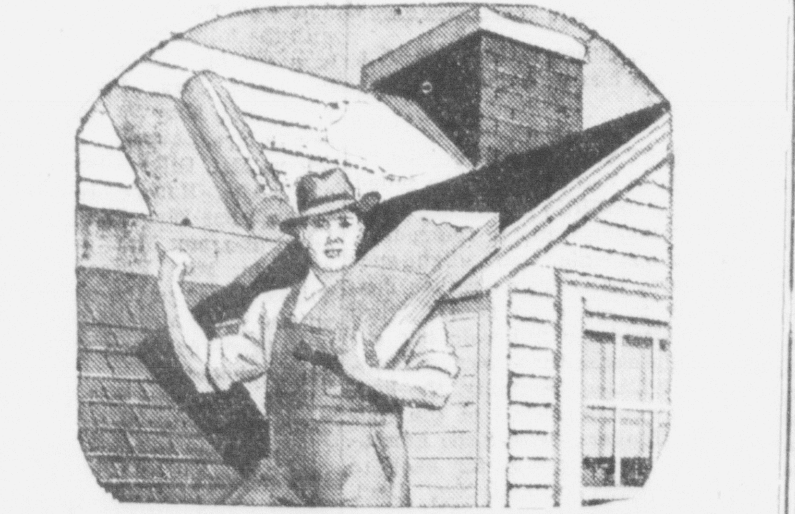

THE FREQUENT tributes to Mr. Hull and his work paid by anti New Deal newspapers, anti-Administration public men and private citizens "whose eyes," as the late General Johnson in his NIA days once said, "have not seen the light" never endeared him to the "liberals" who feel that any commendation from a businessman is more or less of a stigma. But the open attack upon Mr. Hull did not start until the war. So far as can be gathered, the original grievance held against Mr. Hull by the "liberals," aside from his lack of enthusiasm over the New Deal dream, was his refusal more than a year ago to take a course toward Spain which, in his opinion and that of military authorities, both British and American, would have been very harmful, indeed.

SOME OF these "liberals" went so far as personally to call on Mr. Hull and insist upon his adopting their views. When he declined they became greatly indignant. His policies in North Africa, though approved by the President, wholly satisfactory to the military chiefs and obviously working well, were even more bitterly assailed. And then came the resignation of Mr. Sumner Welles, of whom the "liberals" attempted to make a martyr, which was bad judgment, and to picture as the "one able man in the department," which is absurd. It was charged that Mr. Hull forced Mr. Welles out because of personal dislike and jealousy and that the President yielded to Mr. Hull because of his fear of the Southern Democrats with whom Mr. Hull is strong. Neither of these things is true. Mr. Welles was not forced out.

NOTHING MR. Hull now says or does escapes censure. To hear or read these anti-Hullites one might think that the Secretary of State is not only an ignorant and decrepit reactionary, whose policies have proven foolish and wicked, but a small, jealous old man, capable of any form of vindictive meanness, vicious as well as idiotic. Mr. Hull can well afford to be serene. The sort of attack to which he is being subjected reacts not upon him but upon those who make it. If the kind of record the Secretary of State has made not only in his present office but in the others he has held in his long and honorable career can be damaged by the sort of attack now being made upon him, then honor

Directors of Republican Council Plan A Session

QUAKERTOWN, Sept. 21 — An evening meeting of the board of directors of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women has been called by the president, Mrs. Howard Kooker, Jr., to be held at her home, 237 North Hellertown avenue, on Thursday night, at 7.30.

Due to the fact that many women are engaged in important war work, and the inability of many to secure cars to drive to an afternoon meeting the sessions has been called for evening.

Matters of importance will be discussed at the September 23rd meeting, including the approaching November election.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor
Bristol Presbyterian Church

O God and Father, we render Thee our thanks and praise for this day which Thou hast given unto us. New were thy mercies in the morning, and sweet is Thy love in the evening hour.

We bless Thee that Thou hast given to us this day our daily bread; that Thou hast not forgotten us even in those self-centered moments when we forgot Thee. Forgive us of our mistakes of the day. Open our eyes to the signs we have unwittingly committed. Enable us in the days which are to come to profit by the experiences of the days which have passed, so that in the future we might live more nearly in accord with Thy Holy Will. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

FASHION PARADE

By Milo Anderson
(Famed Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The little "restaurant suit"—gleek as can be in distinctive, rich fabrics and pointed up here and there with glitter notes—is a popular fashion with Hollywood stars. Many are dressy and in such materials as moire and satin, others are of colorful wools that can double for regular daytime wear.

Ida Lupino, of Warner Bros., has a flattering restaurant suit of navy blue pout de soie. Very dressy, it combines tailored precision in the squared shoulder and slim, straight skirt with dressmaker softness through the bodice of the single-breasted jacket. The suit is highlighted with wide, shallow revers of raised sequin embroidery. With the suit Ida wears a skullcap of matching sequin embroidery, navy pumps and suede gauntlets and pouch bag of brilliant emerald-green. Emerald earrings are the only note of jewelry.

Irene Dunne has added one of these suits to her wardrobe. It is of old-fashioned brocade in silver and mulberry. A pencil slim skirt is topped with loosely fitted jacket emphasizing detail in the raglan sleeves. With the suit she wears her ivory and diamond chessman clip and tiny pout hat of grey tulle with a single silver rose.

Alexis Smith favors sheer gray wool for her restaurant suit styled with a waistcoat-cut, long-sleeved jacket and slim skirt with just a suggestion of front fullness. A headed gilet worked in a floral pattern with sparkling purple bugle beads is worn with the suit. Alexis' purple jersey gloves are cuffed with bands of the sequin trim.

Martha O'Driscoll in a recent broadcast for the Hollywood Radio Theatre wore a black crepe restaurant suit styled with a short, self-tie jacket and slim skirt. A jeweled halter worn with the suit gave it a touch of multi-colored glitter. She topped the ensemble with a tiny calot hat to match.

Hospital at Valley Forge, and the U. S. Naval Hospital, Philadelphia. These men will have interesting stories to relate, and will give some first-hand information about the great global struggle.

Judge Hiram H. Keller, president of the Bucks County Courts, will be another speaker. Judge Keller has promised to attend, and he is expected to make a short address.

Bonds must be purchased and paid for at the time of purchase either through Mrs. John L. Kilkenny, chairman of the bond drive, or her aides; or at the Bristol or Grand Theatres. Only one theatre in Bristol will be open Wednesday evening and this theatre will be the Grand. The Bristol Theatre is selling the bonds, however, and is co-operating with the Grand Theatre, but will be closed Wednesday evening.

There will be a band concert outside of the Grand Theatre, Wednesday evening at 7.30, and the picture, "Stage Door Canteen," will be shown at 8.15.

area include casualty reports from operations in Sicily.

Polyak left his home here at 273 Cleveland street, February 2, 1941, and has been in the service ever since. He had written frequently to his mother, Mrs. Mary Polyak, and she received her last letter last week.

In one of his letters he wrote of being in a hospital in Africa and stated that he had his left arm in a cast. He sent a photograph showing his arm bandaged.

It is presumed that the announcement released today refers to this injury.

Polyak was employed at the Paterson Parchment Paper Company.

of office, and expressing for Mrs. Friedrich a happy and constructive year in the presidency. To the members of the trio of Auxiliaries present, the speaker dwelt on the privilege of serving the veterans and their communities, mentioning in particular the community spirit that exists in small towns, with other residents lending support to endeavors of merit. "The minutes show that you are doing a worthwhile work," she commented in addressing local members.

During the early part of the evening, with the retiring president in charge, Mrs. Bonnell served as pianist as the colors were advanced by Mrs. Max Ziegler and Mrs. Joseph Zolot. Mrs. Fred Scheese reported several subscriptions to the Legion Auxiliary news letter. Report was made that $12.30 was cleared on a recent card party. A number of coin cards were returned by members, and decision was made to continue this plan for raising money next year.

A surprise sunshine shower was recently tendered Mrs. Annie Soby, Edgely, mother of the late Jesse W. Soby for whom the local post was named. A note of appreciation for the shower was received from Mrs. Soby.

Mrs. Lester Ransom reported on tentative plans for donating of blood to the Red Cross, and the Auxiliary here voted to co-operate with the Langhorne Sorosis in whatever plans can be outlined, making this a community project.

Members were reminded of the annual ball and banquet of the Sons and Daughters of the Legion Cadet Corps, which will occur on October 9th at the Langhorne Country Club. Frank Gwynn, Allen-ton, past state commander of the American Legion, will speak.

The local Auxiliary received a citation from the state department for conspicuous service in carrying forward the work of the Auxiliary in the past year. The sum of $10 was voted to be donated to the cigarette fund for service men overseas.

After accepting the gavel Mrs. Friedrich announced the following committees for the year: Publicity, Mrs. Max Ziegler; music, Mrs. Bonnell; membership, Mrs. Cassidy; rehabilitation, Mrs. Ernest Robinson; national defense, Mrs. Thomas; legislation chairman and parliamentarian, Mrs. Ransom; Americanism, Mrs. Harry Heller; child welfare, Mrs. William Hart; activities and community service, Mrs. Albert Daub; juniors, Mrs. James Brant; poppies, Mrs. Zolot; Pan-Americanism, Miss Rita Keating; employment, Mrs. Horner; news letter, Mrs. Shee; management committee, Mrs. Cassidy; coupons, Mrs. Frank Buckley; vanilla sales, Mrs. Robert Leedom; war activity, Mrs. Bonnell; welfare, Mrs. Tracy; Miss Rita Keating; Mrs. Brant; Mrs. William Blank; sick, Mrs. Tracy; Mrs. George Morris; Mrs. Bonnell; Mrs. Blank.

A card party is planned for October 7th, with Mrs. Ziegler securing prizes, and Mrs. Robinson in charge of the kitchen.

The Armistice dinner is arranged for November 6th, with Mrs. Bonnell as chairman. Proposed as a new member is Mrs. William Flynn. A membership drive is now underway.

Decision was made to send the secretary, Mrs. Bonnell, to the presidents and secretaries conference at Harrisburg in October.

Refreshments of ice cream and home-made cake were served by Mrs. Daub, Mrs. Ziegler, Mrs. Robinson and Miss Elma E. Haefner.

Decorations, Mrs. Amos Foster, Mrs. Earl North, Mrs. Ernest Pittman and Mrs. Warren Cox; door, Mrs. Walter Neuman and Mrs. Willard Keys; properties, Mrs. Raymond Dreisbach, Mrs. Russell Helveston and Mrs. Charles Brooks.

The association decided to purchase two $25 War Bonds for the Third War Loan Drive, and also authorized the purchase of a new flag. Mrs. Walter Neuman was named chairman for the flag purchase.

A letter of thanks was read from Miss Henrietta Ellin, secretary to the supervising principal, for a gift received from the group in appreciation of the work she had done for them.

Mrs. Walter Neuman and Mrs. Arnold Marsh were named to the auditing committee.

Grand Jury Finds True Bill Against Negro

wife three times in the neck in a jealous rage. Mrs. Hall died the day after the stabbing, in a Trenton hospital.

The Grand Jury was discharged after acting in the Hall murder case.

William Kelseley, Fletcher McNeal and Lieutenant Finney, all Negroes, once employed on a Bristol housing project, went on trial yesterday before a jury in Judge Keller's court, charged with assault and battery on Richard Sharp, 38, of Belmar, N. J., construction superintendent on the project, and Raymond Crowthers, a carpenter foreman.

Testimony produced showed that an argument took place at the Bristol housing project grounds on August 13, over an alleged shortage of 60 cents in wages on the part of one of the Negroes.

Sharp testified that a free-for-all took place in the time-keeper's office and that several persons were struck in the face by two of the defendants.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Kelseley; not guilty in the Finney case, but directed that he pay one-half of the costs; and in the case of McNeal, who was found guilty, he was sentenced to pay the costs, and to serve from three to 18 months in the county prison from the date of commitment.

Edgar Leach, Bristol, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of unlawful sale of lottery tickets.

Judge Calvin S. Boyer, in sentencing Leach, remarked: "The attitude of respectable men toward lottery and gambling is changing, but lotteries are still criminal, no matter who runs them," the Court remarked.

Judge Boyer suspended sentence and placed the defendant on probation for one year, and to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $200.

Lucinda Williams, 29, Negro, of Cornwells, was found guilty yesterday by a jury in Judge Boyer's court, of aggravated assault and battery. She was sentenced to the State Institution for Women at Muncy, Pa., for an indeterminate period.

She was charged with cutting another colored worker, Odell Minyard, in the arm during a fight which grew out of a dispute over the ownership of some groceries, on August 13. Mrs. Williams, the defendant, was intoxicated at the time, witnesses said.

The defendant admitted using four different names at various times and having lived with two other men besides her husband, whose whereabouts she did not know.

Animals and Trees Of Australia Shown

as a former professor of biology at National Farm School. The subject was "Australia." Before she threw on the screen her colored slides showing the plant and animal life, she reviewed the geography of the island, and located the main cities, mountains and rivers of the seven divisions: West Australia, South Australia, New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland and Tasmania.

and North Australia Territory.

While the north part is decidedly tropical, generally speaking, the whole is hot and dry. There are several rivers and lakes but they are only occasionally filled with water. Some call the climate "not dependable." There is a narrow strip called an Eastern Crescent (which however extends to the southwest) which is the section where the English speaking people live. Three-fourths of the island is desert. At some places where there is water it cannot be used as it is far too salty. The rainy season comes in winter but is short compared to the dry period.

Because of water scarcity, many of the trees turn only narrow edge of their leaves to the sun. Vertical leaves they are called. Such trees afford no shade and make of course an open forest. Australia has trees which rival Sequoias in this country, reaching over 325 feet in height. They belong to the eucalypts of which there are some 300 species. The eucalypts has a very hard wood, and gives out a gum used for medicine, perfumes, etc. "Mallee" is a characteristic tree with a bunched growth. Then there are beautiful tree ferns, whorled Araucarias of conifer group, and a wealth of acacias of many colored strange stamen flowers and flattened stems which appear as leaves.

Many of Australia's flowers are of a bottle brush appearance of varied size and hues. The Bottle Tree has a strange looking trunk shaped like a bottle in which water is stored for the plant. People sometimes pierce the bark to drink the sap. The grass trees have a rosette of grass on top of a rough, hard trunk from which a long stalk extends bearing very high a flower.

Among birds of Australia, might be mentioned the lyre—which is strikingly beautiful with tail shaped like the musical instrument; the smaller, long-tailed parrots called parakeets, the emu; and the cassowary. It is said that all bird families are found in Australia except the vulture and the woodpecker. The laughing jackass is a wood dwelling kingfisher. The Mallee hen or brush turkey, sometimes called burrow duck, buries its eggs and leaves them to hatch through heat of the vegetation. The Kiwi wears hair instead of feathers. Swans in Australia are black, not white as most swans are.

There are at least a hundred kinds of poisonous reptiles. Most of the native animals are Marsupialian (having pouches). They are largely vegetarian and most of them are nocturnal. The platypus is one of the strangest animals. It lays eggs like a bird, has a beak like a duck, a body like an otter, feet webbed but with strong claws, is furry, and digs a very deep burrow where its eggs are laid until hatching, after which the mother pops the small creature into her pouch until it further matures. The Australian bear, koala, lives in trees. It has a funny nose like black rubber. It is a vegetable feeder and is very particular as to the chemical content of each leaf. It has an appendix of great length. The Australian spotted cat is called dasyure. It is not fierce but a similar animal of Tasmania called devil is very savage. The dog there is called dingo. It is not believed to be native to the continent but has been there many centuries.

Echidna, bandicott, wombat and wallaby were other animals shown in the slides. Of course, no listing of Australia's animals would be complete without naming the kangaroo which once was there in great numbers but is now so important commercially that something must be done to save it from extinction. "Red Center" and "Timeless Land", the speaker gave as names of two books which tell much of this continent under the Southern Cross, with still some of its aborigines with strange tribal etiquette and ceremonial rituals, of those brown skinned peoples of the "Gibbes" desert lands.

At the conclusion of Miss Borden's talk a short memorial service was held in honor of the late Dr. John M. Macfarlane, emeritus professor of botany at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. Dr. Macfarlane, through the years, had frequently been a speaker at Bucks Science meetings. His study of pitcher plants was particularly outstanding.

The last half hour of the program was spent in the Laboratory of the school where Mr. Robert W. Burrage, teacher of biology, physics and chemistry for the 10th, 11th and 12th grades, was in charge of the many interesting exhibits. The cases showing development of plastics, the collection of barks, the instruments for weather recording, various small animals preserved in alcohol, and mineral and shell specimens were studied.

The president, Edward A. Briggs, announced to the 40 people present that the close of this series of meetings would be October 16th at the school auditorium when an illustrated lecture by Edward Hill, of Fleetwood, will be given, "Nature Around the Year."

Nazis Increase Transport Movement Out of Naples Area

Allied Headquarters in North Africa—Increasing German transport movement out of the Naples area was reported today by crews of warplanes of the Northwest Africa Air Force following heavy, concentrated attacks on railroad targets and vital road junctions in an arc around the Italian port.

Fighter-bombers wiped out a large convoy of enemy vehicles west of Potenza. Flying Fortresses blasted railroad yards at Torre Annunziata, tracks south of Pompeii and three highways south of Salerno. Medium bombers hit an important road junction at Caselnuovo and pounded Avellino and Calabritto, while Marauders pounded a bottleneck between two railroad yards at Fomina. Last night the RAF bombed rail yards at Benevento. Allied planes encountered no opposition and all returned safely.
